About the Restaurant

Guramishvili Winery (Guramishvili's Marani) is a historic wine cellar in the village of Saguramo, about 28 km from Tbilisi and around ten minutes' drive from Jvari Monastery. The cellar was built in the 19th century by Tadeoz Guramishvili, whose daughter Olga was the wife of the writer Ilia Chavchavadze, and it is a registered cultural heritage monument that today combines a working winery with a restaurant and event venue.

The venue has four event spaces: the Main Hall for up to 300 guests, the Orangery for up to 70, an open-air terrace with French stained glass for up to 80 and the White Balcony for up to 50. The menu covers Georgian and European dishes, and a wine tasting hall pairs the estate's wines with food, all set around a landscaped courtyard with a vineyard of rare Georgian grape varieties.
